1 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT, Defendant LONNIE SCOTT KEITH, PA,
2 Physician Assistant License No. PA 18704, is prohibited from practicing or attempting to practice
3 as a physician assistant as a condition of bail or O.R. release during the pendency of this criminal 4 action until its final conclusion and sentence. This prohibition includes, the Medical Services 5 Performable as described by section 1399.541 in the California Code of Regulations, Title 16, 6 which states:

7 “(a) Take a patient history; perform a physical examination and make an assessment 8 and diagnosis therefrom; initiate, review and revise treatment and therapy plans 9 including plans for those services described in Section 1399.541(b) through Section 10 1399.541(i) inclusive; and record and present pertinent data in a manner meaningful 11 to the physician.

12 (b) Order or transmit an order for x-ray, other studies, therapeutic diets, physical 13 therapy, occupational therapy, respiratory therapy, and nursing services.

14 (c) Order, transmit an order for, perform, or assist in the performance of laboratory 15 procedures, screening procedures and therapeutic procedures.

16 (d) Recognize and evaluate situations which call for immediate attention of a 17 physician and institute, when necessary, treatment procedures essential for the life of 18 the patient.

19 (e) Instruct and counsel patients regarding matters pertaining to their physical and 20 mental health. Counseling may include topics such as medications, diets, social 21 habits, family planning, normal growth and development, aging, and understanding of 22 and long-term management of their diseases.

23 (f) Initiate arrangements for admissions, complete forms and charts pertinent to the 24 patient’s medical record, and provide services to patients requiring continuing care, 25 including patients at home.

26 (g) Initiate and facilitate the referral of patients to the appropriate health facilities, 27 agencies, and resources of the community.

28 (h) Administer or provide medication to a patient, or issue or transmit drug orders orally or in writing in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (a)-(f), inclusive, of Section 3502.1 of the Code.

(i) (1) Perform surgical procedures without the personal presence of the supervising physician which are customarily performed under local anesthesia. Prior to delegating any such surgical procedures, the supervising physician shall review documentation which indicates that the physician assistant is trained to perform the surgical procedures. All other surgical procedures requiring other forms of anesthesia may be performed by a physician assistant only in the personal presence of an approved supervising physician.

(2) A physician assistant may also act as first or second assistant in surgery under the supervision of an approved supervising physician.”

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that defendant LONNIE SCOTT KEITH, PA, Physician Assistant License No. PA18704, immediately surrender to the Board or its representative all indicia of defendant's license to practice as a physician assistant.

DATED: 4/22, 2013
